The 20th Bioshares Biotech Summit Queenstown New Zealand
6-7 August 2026

The Bioshares Biotech Summit will be held in Queenstown, New Zealand, this year, on 6&7 August. The event originally started in Thredbo, then moved to Queenstown, Albury, Hobart and Fremantle. Due to strong demand the Summit is returning to Queenstown this year for this milestone occasion!

The Summit provides an excellent opportunity to hear directly from leading biotech CEOs in the sector. For investors it's a great opportunity to hear CEOs speak on specific themes and to follow up with direct access to speakers during the event which is held in this spectacular remote setting.

New Additions this Year

There are two new features to the event this year. The first is a 'Biotech CEO Forum' which will be held prior to the CEO Dinner. This will allow biotech CEOs to engage in deeper discussion to share learnings about more effective commercialisation of medical innovations.

The second change will be an improvement in facilitating meetings between biotech companies and investors. Powered by our partner InvestorHub, the investor meeting portal will make arranging meetings with biotech CEOs a lot simpler. There will be the option for group investor meetings with CEOs following their presentations, or meetings with biotech CEOs who may not be giving formal presentations. A dedicated meeting area will be made available.

Themes for this year's Summit will include healthspan (not just living longer but living healthier lives) diagnostics (what is a commercially acceptable accuracy in novel biomarkers and why), and navigating the tumultuous global market volatility underway and how can or should biotechs be mitigating risk from the growing level of uncertainties that continue to build.

We look forward to seeing you in Queenstown!
